

As a consumer, I am deeply concerned about the proposed broadcast flag. This approach is offensive to me on many levels, in the ways in which it criminalizes the basic uses allowed by copyright law, and allows media producers unprecedented control over consumers. I am a law-abiding user who enjoys the ability to make CDs for myself only, to create mini-movies with my camcorder, and I'm appalled at the numerous attempts launched by the media producers to control future technology for their own ends. I urge you to oppose the mandated broadcast flag.
